The Siren

-The Siren-

So many,

Lured by her beauty.

A girl, standing on the shore.

Her eyes show the claimed souls, all the lore.

Follow her into the depths

Never to surface

It's the end

SPLAT

I have a cat
The colour of her coat is black
She always sits on my mat

Her name is Splat
I found her in a sack
I have a cat

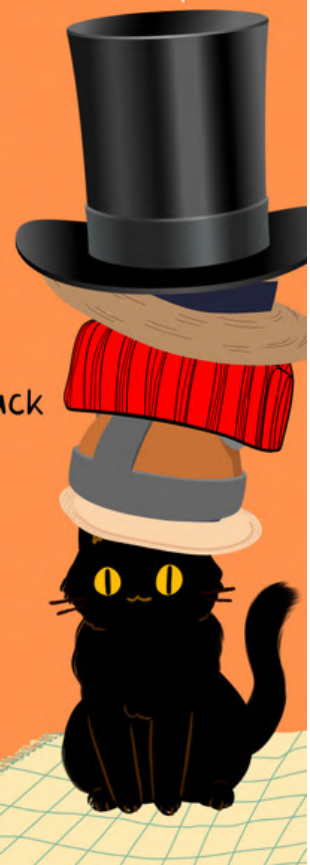

She is very fat
Moving around is what she lacks
She always sits on my mat

She loves to try on a new hat
Especially the ones on my rack
I have a cat

Splat doesn't like to chat
Not even with the cats in the shack
She always sits on my mat

She loves getting a pat
But not on the back
I have a cat
She always sits on my mat

Comforting People

I've never been good at comforting people
With each flowing tear down their face, I feel a shiver
I want to make it okay but I don't know how
How do I make them feel okay?
How can I comfort their sadness?
Without talking about myself?
But worse, why do I have to comfort you?
I'm not your therapist
They say "comfort me" when I can't offer them what they need
Don't expect me to help you
When I can't even help myself Stop putting your burdens on me, it's not my fault
Even when I try to comfort them
They just tend to cry harder I'm sorry for you, but I've never been good at comforting people
